Support Group for Adult Male Survivors of Childhood Sexual Abuse Support Group

The Male Survivor Group is a group for adult males who have childhood sexual abuse and/or trauma.

The group focuses on:

- Understanding the impact of abuse on themselves and their loved ones;
- Address shame and loss in healthy ways; and
- Support members on their journal of healing.

In addition, the group provides a safe space for men to tell their own stories, while understanding they are not alone and not to blame, when dealing with their past trauma and abuse. Group members learn healthy coping strategies to deal with the abusive experiences of their childhood. All group sessions are confidential and provide an open and safe environment where these men are able to support one another during their time of healing.

For more information or to setup an appointment for a free consultation to determine whether this group is a good fit, please contact Dr. DeMarquis Clarke at 412-301-5221 or d.clarke@centerforrelationalchange.com
